Where we ask for certain personal data on the legal basis of contractual or legal obligations, we won't be able to provide some of our housing, support or products or services without it.

We may also share it with other members of our corporate group, or a purchaser or potential purchaser of our business. If we do this, we will tell you about it beforehand.

In limited circumstances we may use your information for a purpose other than those set out in this policy. If we intend to use it for another purpose, we'll contact you before we do.

Security

We have put appropriate security measures in place to prevent your personal data from being accidentally lost, altered, disclosed, used or accessed in an unauthorised way. We have put in place procedures to deal with any suspected personal data breach and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a breach where we are legally required to do so.

In addition, we limit access to your personal data to those employees, agents, contractors and other third parties who have a business need-to-know. They will only process your personal data on our instructions, and they are subject to a duty of confidentiality.

International transfers

We will endeavour to only process your data within the UK or EEA. Where this is not possible, we will assess whether that the country where the data will be processed has as data protection laws in place that grant similar rights to data subjects as in the EEA. We will also use approved mechanisms of transfer e.g. Standard Contractual Clauses or other appropriate safeguards.

Phishing

'Phishing' is the name given to attempts to steal personal details and financial account details from a website user. 'Phishers' use fake or 'spoof' emails to lead users to imitation websites where the user is tricked into entering their personal details, such as credit card numbers, usernames and passwords. We will never send emails asking you for such details and our staff will never ask you for your password

If you do receive such an email or are asked for your password by anyone claiming to represent us, please forward the email or report the incident to our Data Protection Officer.

Retention

All data is held in accordance with our legal obligations and/or our retention schedule. We will not keep data for longer than is necessary to carry out the purposes of processing.

Your privacy rights

You have the right to exercise your statutory rights relating to your data. These include:

1. The right to be informed
2. The right of access

3. The right to rectification
4. The right to erasure
5. The right to restrict processing
6. The right to data portability
7. The right to object
8. Rights in relation to automated decision making and profiling

Unless otherwise stated, you can exercise your rights by contacting our Data Protection Officer.

The right to be informed

You have the right to be informed about whether we process your data, what data we collect about you, the reasons why, who we share it with and how we protect it. This Notice forms part of our obligation to fulfil your right to be informed.

The right of access

You have the right to have a copy of the personally identifiable data we hold about you. You can exercise this right by filling out the form on the SBHG website here or contacting our Data Protection Officer at sar.request@sbhg.co.uk

Before we respond to your access request, we will ask for proof of identification. Once we receive your proof of identification (and narrowed your request, if necessary), we will respond to your access request within one calendar month.

Malicious, vexatious or repetitive requests will not be fulfilled but we will assess this on a case-by-case basis.

The right of rectification

You have the right to tell us to change the details we hold about you if they are wrong or need to be updated.

If you are a resident, you change your details by logging into your SBHG Resident Portal. If you are a prospective home buyer, you can log into your account and change your details. If you are not a resident or prospective home buyer, you can rectify your data by emailing data.protection@sbhg.co.uk or using our details on the Contact Us page of the website.

The right of erasure

Commonly known as the 'right to be forgotten', you have the right to have your data erased if:

- It is no longer needed for the purposes for which it was collected,
- The data was processed on the legal basis of consent and you have withdrawn your consent,
- The data was processed on the legal basis of legitimate interests, you object to that processing and there is no overriding legitimate interest,
- If the data was processed unlawfully, or
- We need to comply with a legal obligation

The right to restrict processing

You have the right to have your data restricted in certain circumstances:

- If you contest the accuracy of your data and we are verifying the accuracy,
- If we are processing the data unlawfully but you don't want us to erase the data,
- We no longer need the data, but you want us to keep it in order to establish, exercise or defend a legal claim,
- If the data was processed on the legal basis of public interest or legitimate interest, you object to that processing your data and we are in the process of determining whether there is an overriding interest.

The right to data portability

You have a right to move, copy or transfer data you have provided to us to another IT environment if:

- The data is being processed by automated means; and,
- The legal basis of the processing is either consent or contractual obligation.

The right to object

You have the right to object to all or parts of your data being processed if:

- The purpose of the processing is public interest
- The processing is in exercise of official authority vested in us
- The legal basis of the processing is legitimate interests (or the legitimate interests of a third party)
- The purpose of the processing is for scientific or historical research or statistical purposes

The right to withdraw consent

You have the right to withdraw your consent at any time if the data we process about you is done so on the legal basis of consent.

In the event you wish to withdraw your consent, (e.g. for pictures that were taken of you at an event or for sending you marketing materials) you can do so by letting a staff member know, changing your consent settings in your account, or contacting our Data Protection Officer.

Research and statistical use of your data

If you would like more information about how your data is used for research and statistical purposes by the Government and why, this can be found in the Continuous Recording of Social Housing Lettings and Sales (CORE) notice.

Complaints

As with all our services, if you aren't happy with the way we've used your data, you're entitled to make a complaint. You can do this by:
